

Sweet and Sour Meatballs

From Mary

1 can crushed pineapple
bourbon to taste
brown sugar
juice of  $\frac{1}{2}$  lemon couple tablespoons jelly (currant, or whatever)
a little melted butter (Mom used a stick or so)

- Cook all over low heat until cooked down and heated through with 1 pound frozen meatballs.

The part of this recipe I love is that it is so specific about 1 can crushed pineapple (small? big?) and juice of  $\frac{1}{2}$  lemon. The rest of it is so general - no amounts given, etc.

I make these infrequently, but they are always a hit with guests. Unfortunately, I wind up making the 'sauce' to taste each time. But these are the ingredients Mom gave me over the phone one October day when I called her for some recipes.